

Day 5, Activity 5

Friday Warm-up Writing Activity:

Note: These warm-up writing activities can be done solo or with a partner sharing a google doc.

1. Write as many sentences as you can beginning with the same two words in each sentence and beginning with a two-word sentence. See if you can get up to 20 words or 30 or 40 or more.

Two examples here:

I Write

I write often.

I write each day.

I write in the morning.

I write with a blue pen.

I write with a blue Bic pen.

I write with a pen in my notebook.

I write about all kinds of things each day.

I am.

I am bored.

I am bored now.

I am bored right now.

I am bored sometimes at home.

I am bored being stuck at home.

I am not bored most of the time.

I am bored at times when stuck at home.

Choose any subject you like and get started.

2. Create a descriptive paragraph about the weather today. Use as many active verbs as you can. (An active verb is a word that shows action, as in The wind swept the leaves across the backyard. Notice how the subject – the wind – is doing the action.) Use the landscape outside your window along with weather-related terms as the content for your paragraph.
